

USDA Organic

The Seal

The USDA Organic symbol is becoming familiar in American grocery stores and farmers' markets. More importantly, it represents the best quality produce, having been grown without the aid of chemicals or synthetic fertilizers.

Naturally Grown

North Star Farms practices its "naturally grown" slogan by implementing every method and procedure that is natural and environmentally friendly.

Certified Organic

North Star Farms became certified organic on Oct. 27, 2006 through International Certification Services Inc., an agency in Medina, North Dakota that is recognized around the world for its commitment to certified organic agriculture. Certified organic refers to inspection by an independent, third-party, such as ICS, that ensures a farm complies with strict, national organic standards set by the United States Department of Agriculture. For our customers, that means our products are of superior quality.

Our Guarantee

We are very proud to bring to you the best certified organic produce available. We can guarantee that because we grow and harvest the products ourselves and deliver it the next day. None of it comes from other growers or is shipped across the country. That, in turn, represents better flavor, longer storage time and less of a carbon footprint.

Display

Our 2010 organic certificate will be displayed throughout the growing season for customers to inspect.
